The mitotic checkpoint protein Esp1p is a conserved subunit of the Saccharomyces cerevisiae spindle assembly checkpoint (SAC) complex, which is a mitotic spindle checkpoint. It is essential for SAC function and its inhibition leads to premature mitotic entry and exit from mitosis. The SAC proteins Mad2p and Cdc20p are interacting proteins that bind to the kinase Mps1p and inhibit its activity. Mad2p blocks mitotic exit in the absence of Cdc20p and Mps1p. This study reports the discovery of small molecule inhibitors of Esp1p and Mps1p. We describe a novel small-molecule inhibitor of Esp1p in S. cerevisiae (class I) that blocks interaction with Mad2p and Mps1p. This compound inhibits the activity of Mps1p and Esp1p in vitro, blocks entry into mitosis in a pds1Δ mutant, and leads to mitotic arrest. Wednesday, September 22, 2008

Kezia's book - The Memory String Kezia's story - The Memory String was the first in a series of six books that she wrote based on her early life experiences, and I have read them all. They are not always well organized but are well written and based on her life experiences. The life experience is an important part of the story and you can see this throughout the book, from her past experiences as a child, being brought up in the 1940's and learning about love, growing up with her father, her relationship with her sister and other family members, her school experiences and her education and her decision to follow a different path. Kezia's family are very colourful characters and her father is a very vivid character. I enjoyed this book so much, especially the part where she is growing up and living in an orphanage with her sister. I also love the part where she is working and becoming independent in her own home. I don't think I will ever be able to bring myself to give up all my 'junk' clothes, when my children are old enough to go out and play without me.
